Omicron Delta Kappa, national honorary activities fraternity, tapped six men in a most solemn ceremony last evening at the class night exercises. The six were singled out by O. D. K. as being the outstanding men in extra-curricular activities during the past school year.

The men so honored are Leo David, C. Manley Fesler, Steele McGrew, Wallis I. Schutt, and John T. Vivian. Dr. Robert F. Harmon was extended a bid in recognition of his efficient work in conducting the Glee Club of the University, which in 1930 won the Intercollegiate Glee Club Championship of the United States.

David has labored on The Hatchet for several years as a reporter, department editor, and finally this year, completing the term left vacant by F. Winfield Weitzel as editor. During the past year he has served also in the capacity of business manager of Cue and Curtin, aiding immeasurably in the successful production of plays last fall and this spring. Previous to this year he held the position of publicity director of the organization.

During his stay at the University he organized a local social fraternity that petitioned and was accepted into Phi Epsilon Pi. He was elected first president of the chapter. David is a member of Pi Delta Epsilon, honorary journalism fraternity, and of Pi Gamma Mu, honorary social science fraternity.

New Editor Honored

Editorship of The University Hatchet is the crowning achievement of C. Manley Fesler. His career as a college journalist began as a lowly reporter; he was next a senior reporter and from this position was elected to the Board of Editors for the year 1931-32. This spring his ambition was realized when he was chosen to direct the newspaper during the next school year.

Fesler has also acted as publicity director for the Cherry Tree for the past two years. He organized the Education Club in 1931 and was elected the first president.

His leadership in fraternal circles was recognized by the Interfraternity Council, when it elected him president for 1931-32. Gate and Key is also among his organizations, and his own social fraternity, Sigma Chi, chose him to preside over their meetings for 1932-33. Fesler is a member of Pi Delta.

Order of Coif Elects Sixteen Law Seniors

Selection Is Made from Upper Ten Per Cent of Class

Order of the Coif, national honorary legal fraternity, elected 16 student members this year from the upper ten per cent of the senior class, in order of academic rank. The purpose of this honor society is "to foster a spirit of careful study and to mark in a fitting manner those who have attained a high grade of scholarship."

Students who have earned this honor in the 1932 senior class of the Law School, are: Leon H. Amdur, Harold Biesemier, Louise Feinstein, Douglas Hatch, Joseph Houghton, Robert Johnson Day Payne Karr, Winfield Macgill, Jr., Carvel Mattson, Kirby Patterson, Reynolds Robertson, J. Allison Rupert, Dwight Taylor, Merrill Twining, Clinton Vernon, and Jesse Wallace.

Candidates For Summer Edition Report Tomorrow

Students interested in working on the summer school editions of The Hatchet are asked to report at The Hatchet office on H Street tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock. At that time all material for the first edition, which will come out Saturday morning, will be due.

Wins Men's Award

Theodore Rinehart, winner of the Delta Tau Delta Award for the outstanding male graduate.

Theodore Rinehart Receives Delta Tau Delta Senior Award

Organized University Band, Promoted First Carnival, Led Student Council

One of the outstanding features of the Senior Class Night exercises was the awarding of the Delta Tau Delta activities prize to "Ted" Rinehart. This award is made annually to the man in the senior class who throughout his course at George Washington has done the most constructive work in the furtherance and upbuilding of the University's student activities.

Ted Rinehart, candidate for a degree in the Law School, comes from Tulsa, Oklahoma. He completed his undergraduate work at Pennsylvania and Oklahoma, where he was very prominent in activities and since his entrance into George Washington his interest in school activities has not in the least diminished.

As a member of the Student Council, he was the outstanding figure in the founding of the University Band, which made its first public appearance on Thanksgiving Day, at the North Dakota football game. It was a real thrill for George Washington students as their own musical unit, resplendent in Buff and Blue uniforms, sent "The Gridiron King" and "Under the Double Eagle" into the air. "Ted" Rinehart's work had been well done, and thousands of throats hailed the maiden tour of "Rinehart's Band" around Griffith Stadium.

"Ted" is a member of Kappa Alpha Order (Southern) and Phi Delta Phi, legal fraternity. His efforts during his short stay at the University have constantly been aimed at the increasing of the prestige of the Student Council, and the rousing of school spirit throughout the University.

Hatchet Wins Highest Intercollegiate Rating

Receives Class A Award in Annual Judging of College Newspapers

The George Washington University Hatchet was accorded a Class A rating in the annual judging of the College Weekly Newspaper Rating Committee of the University of North Carolina Daily Tar Heel.

The 39 papers submitted were rated on a point system involving heads, news content, style, make-up, editorials, sports, features, and columns.

Gets Activities Prize

Mildred Burnham Gets Pi Beta Phi Prize for Activities

Culmination of Brilliant Undergraduate Career Merits Signal Award

Mildred Moger Burnham was selected as the winner of the Pi Beta Phi Award for this year. This award is made annually to the most outstanding woman in the senior class, who throughout her college career has done the most to promote student activities. Mildred Burnham, better known as "Midge," has shown marked ability and versatility since her entrance into the University in 1928. She started her career by playing one of the star roles of "Sometime Soon," the George Washington Troubadour production of that year. The next season she became leading lady as well as co-author of that organization's production, "Gypsy in Egypt." As an honor student, she became president of Alpha Lambda Delta, freshmen women's honorary scholastic fraternity. In the journalistic field she held a position on the Cherry Tree staff.

In 1930 "Midge" founded Phi Pi Epsilon, the first women's foreign service fraternity in America, of which she became the first president. She also held the positions of Society Editor of the Cherry Tree and Membership Chairman of the Y. W. C. A. In recognition of her work she was elected to membership in both Hour Glass and Gamma Eta Zeta, honorary activity and journalistic organizations, respectively.

Was Student Council Officer "Midge" climaxed her career this year as vice-president of the Student Council, president of Hour Glass Society, president of Phi Pi Epsilon, secretary of Gamma Eta Zeta, vice-president of Pi Beta Phi, her social fraternity, and vice-president of the Senior Class, her latest honor.

Membership on the Troubadour Board and membership in Pi Gamma Mu, honorary Social Science fraternity, must be counted among her various activities.

George Washington Students Invited By Navy to Visit Frigate Constitution

An invitation has been extended by the United States Navy to all alumni and students of The George Washington University to visit the United States Frigate Constitution, "Old Ironsides," on Friday, July 1. The Constitution is docked at Pier No. 2, Washington Navy Yard.

In extending the invitation Commander Louis J. Gulliver pointed out that "It is especially fitting and timely that 'Old Ironsides' is in the Nation's Capital during the celebration of the 200th anniversary of George Washington's birth, for it was during his second term as President, and at his instigation, that the building of the Constitution was begun."

The oldest and most famous ship afloat, this is her first visit to Washington, with the exception of a brief stay here last fall, since 1812. During her life of almost 136 years, 80 of which were of active service, the Con-

Rinehart Is Named Most Outstanding Senior Man in Student Activities

Presentation of awards was the outstanding feature of the Senior Class Night exercises, which were held last night in Corcoran Hall. About eleven hundred students, graduates and friends attended the exercises, which were under the direction of a committee consisting of Jean Fugitt, chairman, Miriam Moss, and John J. Kennedy.

The program opened with the Salutatory Address by Kennedy Watkins, and was followed by the Class History by Florence Marks, and the Class Prophecy by Miriam Moss and Eleanor Spencer.

Dean Wilbur then gave a short talk on the aims of Omicron Delta Kappa, national activities fraternity, and introduced Frank Weitzel, president of the local chapter, who tapped the following men for membership: C. Manley Fesler, Leo David, John T. Vivian, Steele McGrew, Wallis Schutt, and Dr. Robert Harmon.

Glee Clubs Sing

An intermission came at this point during which the combined Glee Clubs rendered several numbers. President Marvin then gave a short address, at the end of which he presented the following awards: R. O. T. C. commissions to 24 graduates of the Medical School, the Alpha Chi Sigma Freshman Awards in Chemistry to Israel Shulman, Ernest Joy Umberger, and Armand Gordon; Alpha Chi Sigma Senior Award in Chemistry to Conrad Philip Heins; the Alpha Delta Pi Award in French to Herbert Lee Alexander, II; the Alpha Delta Theta Award in Chemistry to Leah Metropole; the Chi Omega Award in Social Sciences to Cecile Bernice Harrington; the Colonial Dames Award in History to Mildred Maddox Lutz; the E. K. Cutter Award in English to Jeannette Bernstein; the Davis Prizes in Public Speaking, first to Francis Kirkham, second to Bertha Kauffman, and third to Hilda Hayes; and the Delta Sigma Rho Award to the winners of the interfraternity debates, for the women, to Zeta Tau Alpha, and for the men, to Theta Upsilon Omega.

"Ted" Rinehart then received the Delta Tau Delta Award as the most outstanding man in the graduating class in student activities. The Delta Zeta Award in Botany went to Robert Louis Weintraub; the Ellsworth Award in Patent Law to Leland Leon Chapman; the Willie E. Fitch Award in Chemistry to Richard Leigh Sawyer; the Edward Carrington Goddard Award in French to Neva Ewin; the James Douglas Goddard Award in Pharmacy to Edward Albert Smyser;

LEADERS IN SCIENCE

Commencement Exercises Center About Further Upbuilding of Medical School

Dr. Frederick Parker Gay, head of the Department of Bacteriology in the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Columbia University, will deliver the commencement address on "Science in Medical Education" at The George Washington University commencement exercises tonight at Constitution Hall.

The honorary degree of Doctor of Science will be conferred by the University at these exercises upon Dr. Frederick Parker Gay, Dr. George Canby Robinson, Dean of the New York-Cornell Medical Center; and Dr. Allen Mason Chesney, Dean of the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine. All are men of international reputation as scientists and medical educators.

Because of the emphasis which has been placed by The George Washington University this year upon the further upbuilding of its School of Medicine, the Commencement exercises have been planned to center about medical education. During the year a reorganization and expansion has been in progress in the School of Medicine looking toward its rededication to the service of the community through the development of scientific medicine. In addition to its clinical work, medical research and graduate courses in public health are to have an important place in the curriculum.

The George Washington University School of Medicine was established in 1825 and, in the order of its founding, is the eleventh medical school in the United States. The institution has long enjoyed Class A standing before the Association of American Medical Colleges. Its Dean is Dr. Earl Baldwin McKinley, formerly of the Medical faculty of Columbia University and former Director of the School of Tropical Medicine of the University of Porto Rico. His investigations into the causes of leprosy, reported at the recent meeting of the American Association of Pathologists and Bacteriologists, are regarded as an important step in the fight against this disease.

Appointees Eligible for Officers' Reserve Corps, Army Internships

Twenty-four members of this year's class in medicine received commissions from the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, U. S. Army, Medical Unit, at the Class Night exercises in Corcoran Hall last night. President Marvin made the presentations.

These men will be recommended for appointment in the Officers' Reserve Corps, provided they so desire. They are also given preference in appointment for internship in Army General Hospitals where they have the status of First Lieutenant of the Medical Corps.

Those men who received commissions last night were: Harry Adler, Henry Rowland Alpert, Milton William Amster, George Lindsay Ball, Abraham I. Beacher, William Irving Birnberg, Arthur Edgar Cliff, Morris Marcus Dick, Arnold Galileo diGregorio, Raphael Allen Edmonston, I. Louis Hoffman, Milton Klein, Mark M. Kroll, Benjamin Paul Lafsky, Edward Idel Melich, Matthew Mendelsohn, Harry Byron, Orleans Duane Case Richtmeyer, Harry Bernard Schiffer, Charles Merritt Schaffer, Carl Caughman Sox, Francis Neilson Strawbridge, Frank Austin Susan, and David Louis Weinstein.

WASHINGTON, D. C., WEDNESDAY, JUNE 15, 1932

Your Degree

To those students of George Washington University who are receiving degrees at the annual spring convocation tonight we offer our congratulations. We hope that you are dissatisfied with the work which you have just completed. For that is the surest sign of progress—to be able to see one's own faults. Tomorrow you will hear of those faults and shortcomings from others, so you may as well be prepared.

First of all there is too much stress placed upon the value of a "college education." There was a time, several decades ago, when the populace opened its arms to the youngster with an A. B. after his name. That was several decades ago! That was when there was a demand for youngsters with A. B.'s after their names. Today the supply has far exceeded the demand... with a resultant drop in value. Today there are men with degrees standing on the street corners of every large city—and half of the villages. And this is in spite of the Commencement Day Soothsayers. It is a matter of hard cold facts and you may as well face the facts—with a grin.

The Graduate of the University of Hard Knocks, the Big Business Man, and the Moralist will all discount your degree. Some will even call it "Folly." The Graduate of the University of Hard Knocks will call it a waste of time. The Moralist will tell you, if he gives you that much of his time, that colleges are the breeding places of the worst kind of corrupt thought. And the Big Business Man will tell you that your degree is all right, but that the sooner you forget about it the better. He will maintain that you will have to learn to think all over again... according to business practice and terminology... without so much theory.

Your degree is valuable only to the extent that you, personally, make it valuable. It is no "Open Sesame" to success. It is valuable only to the extent that you use it as reserve strength in your fight to make your place in the sun. In simple words it is a background and no more... and you do not succeed on a background.

By this time you should know how to appreciate the opinions of others. That will be one of your greatest assets. Your training in college must have broadened your outlook upon life. The corners on the world will not be as sharp as they seemed when you started as a freshman. You will be on the lookout for disillusionment—and will be better able to anticipate it because you have experienced it. You have accomplished much! You are capable of much more! Draw your line and hew to it!

We wish you Bon Voyage.

Omicron Delta Kappa

Six men were tapped for membership in Omicron Delta Kappa, national honorary activities fraternity, at the annual class night ceremony last night. The fact that this tapping took place just about twenty-four hours before the granting of degrees is coincidental.

Tonight approximately seven hundred people will receive diplomas from George Washington University. These diplomas are emblematic of four years of study and are supposed to be a measure of the culture and education received. They should represent to the prospective employer knowledge gathered and embryonic achievement.

These six men were honored by O. D. K. for their leadership and initiative shown in extra-curricular activities during their sojourn at George Washington. In a sense they received a diploma for work achieved and knowledge gained. Six were chosen from the entire body of upperclassmen for this singular honor.

At George Washington not so much attention is paid to extra-curricular activities as is done at other universities of the same size and standing. However the same opportunities are offered and the same training may be had by those people who take the time and have the initiative to go out for it. And it is probably the case that it takes more initiative than time.

CHIPS

Since time immemorial it seems to have been the inane custom of columnists to pick at the end of each fiscal year the most outstanding of all outstanding events that happen. Here are a few things which have occurred at George Washington which Rollo picks as important so that you may have something to quarrel about the rest of the year. First of all is the advent of real football and basketball teams, representing the University. Next is the founding of the University Band. Lastly, we select the first University Carnival. The most outstanding student dramatic production of the year was "The Queen's Husband" produced by Cue and Curtain. The year's best dance was the Interfraternity Prom (due to Vivian and Paul Tremaine). The year's most outstanding mystery—what happened to the "Green Dragons." The most powerful organization on the campus—The Nazi.

Outstanding women in the graduating class—Mildred Burnham, president of everything and founder of what's left; Pauline Schaub, marksman Editor of the Cherry Tree; Evelyn Eller, Cum Laude, personality, barb, Cecile Harrington, last of the A. D. Pi Hatchet editors; Marian Ziegler, Sigma Kappa, Pen Hel Prom Chairman; Kay McCallum, women's athletic highlight.

Outstanding men in the graduating class—Ted Rinehart, band and carnival founder; Charles Jackson, Student Council president; Bill Hanback, premier campus manager; Leo David, Hatchet Editor.

With these few brainstorms Rollo proceeds to some reflections on the closing events of the year. If you attended the Glee Club dance you were gratified to learn that the Board of Trustees resolved that it sure is a fine thing that George Washington has a glee club. . . . Pauline Schaub has attended three dances with Grant Van Demark in the last week. (Not an advertisement.) . . . Claire Thomas, Marguerite's high school sister, bids fair to carry on Eller's honors next year, when she appeared at a recent party sporting a Delt and Theta Delt pin at the same time. And a little child shall lead them. . . . Fesler has been "Remoniscing" since Sweetbriar closed. . . . Prexy tried for a record with a 45-minute talk Saturday night (not about deep sea photography). . . . O. D. K. holds its annual tapping—another key, another fifteen dollars and a few more B. P. O. C. . . . Widewater, according to Montgomery, Miah, Carter, Edmonston and other celebrities, is a fine study ground for the finals. . . . We mention Lee McNeil just because she had her name here last year, and we don't want to spoil her record.

Oh, yes, the President's Reception with the faculty starring. Things we noted—Elmer Louis' smirk—Doyle doing a Sir Walter Raleigh on his hands and knees to retrieve a lady's pocketbook which floated under the table—Terpsichorean stars, Professors West and Bemis, the latter of whom has quite a line, which, according to our campus daisies, has nothing to do with that treaty line of 1846 or supin—Bill Sterrett's blonde highway sister panicked the lucky campus lads who were present. Good music and plenty to eat fixed it up as a pretty fine to-do.

Marian Boyle and John Madigan, the University's "I wonder what it's all about," got stuck in a boat on the Tidal Basin at midnight. They all learn. It just takes time. . . . For the first time in her life Betty Rees really got embarrassed when Ross Shearer, her old flame, dropped in at the Senior Reception. And did Lawrence glare? Well, I'd say! . . . The A. D. Pi's, suffering from their Phi Sig association, are throwing a radio dance tomorrow night.

Baccalaureate Sermon reminded us of one of Ragata's lectures—the whole thing was outlined into five points. . . . Kayser, being Marshall, had a fine time being important. (Adv.) . . . All the undergraduates spoiled their fingers pinning those stiff white collars on the cap and gowns. . . . Talking about caps and gowns—no mention of the mothballs—Hank Roberts ought to wear one all the time, for he sure can make the feminine hearts flutter. . . . Iglehart and Herzog listened to the sermon over the radio—believe it or not.

Off go the Seniors on life's long voyage, and off goes Rollo on a vacation. And as for the Seniors, here's just a moss-covered idea:

"I thought I heard him say the job is done,
The Senior who at life's portal stood.
But what I think he really meant
Was that the job has just begun."

A little cheer and pleasant dreams. Au revoir.

DICK ROLLO.

Society :-:

This week to some of us means a sheepskin and the achievement of a seemingly unobtainable goal, to others of us it means the completion of one more set of exams, but to all of us it brings the beginning of a constant round of social activities.

The outstanding social events connected with Commencement were the reception and dance given at the Willard, on June 11, by the three alumni organizations; the garden party on June 12, at which Phi Delta Gamma was hostess to the graduates; and the reception given by President and Mrs. Cloyd Heck Marvin, on Monday, at the Washington Club.

Dances galore! Thursday night, June 9th, the night of the very last scheduled examination, was the date picked to celebrate by the Chi Omegas. Kenwood Country Club and Gary Smitskamp's Orchestra furnished the setting and music for a good evening.

Theta Delta Chi gave their final June dance at their house, Kappa Alpha chose Manor Club for theirs, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon also picked their house on the evening of June 10. All had good music and many fortunate invitees migrated from one to the other during the evening.

Gate and Key, men's honorary activities fraternity, gave their annual house party at Log Inn, June 11 and 12. The guests arrived at Log Inn, five miles beyond Annapolis, on the Chesapeake Bay, after luncheon. The afternoon was spent swimming and boating, and following dinner many played bridge until ten o'clock when Gary Smitskamp's Orchestra arrived to play for the informal dance. Sunday was enjoyably spent eating, sleeping, and playing bridge. Everyone left late in the afternoon, tired but happy.

Phi Delta Gamma National Graduate Sorority entertained the faculty members and graduate students at a garden tea, Sunday, June 12, from four to seven.

Alpha Delta Pi will entertain their graduating members at a radio dance in the rooms, on Thursday, June 16.

Chi Omega announces the formal initiation of Gretchen Peiker, Katharine Chipman, Marie O'Brien, Olivia Nixon, and Margaret McReynolds, on Monday, June 13.

Grace Edwina Dutton spent the week end of June 3, at Rocky Mount, N. C., where she was maid of honor for the wedding of her brother.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon announces the initiation of Robert Hoyt, Lawrence Boner, Malcolm Hay, Harold Free, and Frederick Joss, at initiation ceremonies held at the chapter house last evening.

In spite of the exams and strenuous social atmosphere around the University during the past two weeks, an unusually large group of G. W. students has been seen at the Old Dominion Boat Club at the regular Friday night dances. As the season progresses Alexandria promises to be the rendezvous for the social elite of the University.

Delta Tau Delta announces the formal initiation of John Adams, Nig McCarter, Buck Gallagher, Finnis Parrish, "Pop" Williams, and McKensie on Monday, June 13, at the chapter house. A dance followed in their honor.

John Lloyd, a student in Columbian College, won a free airplane trip to New York, at the Marine Roof of Club Michel, Wednesday night, June 8. This trip is raffled off each Wednesday night and the guest who wins gets not only transportation for two to New York and back, but also an evening as the guest of the Hollywood Club.

Louise Bruce will leave for Long Beach, California, where her family will be stationed on June 25. Among those who are entertaining for her are Cecile Harrington, Marion Boyle, Betty Reeves, and Dorothy Albert.

Grace Hurd will entertain the members of Alpha Delta Pi at a house party at Sherwood Forest, the week of June 25.

J. George Wenzel left Saturday for a three-month trip to Europe, where he will spend his summer vacation visiting relatives in Germany and Vienna.

Pi Beta Phi held its June dance on Monday evening at the Bethesda Women's Club.

Sigma Kappa will give a dance at the Manor Club on Thursday, June 16.

Mary Weaver entertained the members of Chi Omega at a picnic supper on Friday, June 10, at her farm in Maryland.

Delta Tau Delta gave their final June dance at their K street house on Monday night, June 13.

Dille Selected Head Of Gamma Eta Zeta

Nine Women Initiated at Banquet Given at Tabard Inn

Gamma Eta Zeta, women's honorary journalistic fraternity, initiated nine outstanding members of the publications staffs following a formal banquet at Tabard Inn.

Kathryn Dille was chosen president of the fraternity for the coming year during the election which followed the initiation ceremony. She has been departmental editor in charge of society on The Hatchet during the past year and has also served on the society staff of the Cherry Tree.

Other officers elected to head journalism's daughters next year are: Edith Brookhart, vice president; Marion Boyle, secretary, and Evelyn Iverson, treasurer.

In addition to the officers, other newly inducted members of the fraternity include Evelyn Eller, Gwendolyn Folsom, Elizabeth Rees, Pauline Schaub, and Marie Siegrist.

The highlight of the banquet was the appearance of the fifth annual miniature newspaper, edited by Cecile Harrington, retiring president of Gamma Eta Zeta, which contained the year's news and also the menu. Several of the charter members of the organization were present and one of them gave an interesting account of the founding of the fraternity.

Good at writing blank verse
Or any other kind of poetry—we would.
But we never did care much for it,
And this looks like poetry anyway,
But it's a lot better advertising.

Nevertheless,

Our sentiments are something like this:

We're sorry the college year is over—
Sorry to see so many of you whom we've
Known loving, never to return,
Except, perhaps, "On Occasions."

We want you to know, furthermore, that we've Enjoyed knowing you and seeing you
Around the "store"—and we hope
You've enjoyed being there as much
As we've enjoyed having you.

Schutt, McGrew Chosen
Wallis I. Schutt acted in the capacity of sports editor of The Hatchet during the past year and he also went through the gamut of reporter positions on the paper to gain this position.

Schutt was engineering editor for the 1932 Cherry Tree. In recognition of his journalistic activities he was initiated into Phi Delta Epsilon in 1930 and was elected secretary of that organization the next year. He acted as the official delegate to the George Washington chapter to the national convention of the fraternity that was held in Washington this spring. He is a member of Gate and Key society and his social fraternity is Phi Sigma Kappa.

Captain of football in 1929, member of the Student Council, and member of the Interfraternity Council were the activities offered by Steele McGrew to warrant his election.

McGrew is also president of Gate and Key society and served in the same capacity for his social fraternity, Theta Upsilon Omega.

New Alumni Head

Daniel LeRay Borden, who was selected as President of the General Alumni Association at the Willard Hotel Saturday night.

Borden Made Head Of General Alumni

O'Brien Elected President of Law School Association
for 1932-33

Dr. Daniel LeRay Borden, eminent Washington surgeon, was elected President of the General Alumni Association of The George Washington University at the annual meeting held Saturday night, June 11, at the Willard Hotel.

Assembling at an earlier hour the same evening at the Willard, the Columbian-George Washington Law School Association elected as its President for 1932-33, Matthew Houston O'Brien, jr., Washington patent lawyer.

The new President of the General Alumni Association is a member of a family which has been associated with the University for three decades, his father, Dr. William Cline Borden, having been Dean of the School of Medicine for 32 years.

Since his graduation from the Medical School he has been associated with the University in a teaching capacity. At this time he holds the positions of Associate Professor of Surgery and Director of the Department of Health Administration. A Lieutenant Colonel in the Medical Reserve Corps, he served in France during the World War, with the rank of Major. Dr. Borden is a member of the Medical profession whose high achievement has won him a place in "Who's Who in America."

For two years, 1929 and 1930, Dr. Borden was President of The George Washington University Medical Society, his presidency being characterized by splendid achievement and great progress. He has served the General Alumni Association for three years as a member of the Executive Committee and, more recently, as vice president representing the School of Medicine.

Bishop McDowell Delivers Inspiring Graduation Sermon

President's Reception, Phi
Delta Gamma Party, Also
Part of Week's Program

Conveying a beautiful and inspiring message to the members of the graduating class, Bishop William Fraser McDowell, D. D., LL. D., L. H. D., delivered the Baccalaureate Sermon in the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church last Sunday afternoon as part of a well-filled commencement week program. A large number of friends and relatives of the prospective graduates attended the services.

After the services, Phi Delta Gamma, national graduate sorority, was host to the graduate students at their annual garden party which was held in the Lambie House, due to the inclement weather.

Monday afternoon, the President, Cloyd Heck Marvin and Mrs. Marvin entertained at the Washington Club in honor of the members of the graduating class and their parents. Dancing followed the reception.

Three University alumni organizations—the General Alumni Association, the Columbian-George Washington Law School Association, and the George Washington University Medical Society,—staged a reception and dance Saturday night in honor of the graduates who are to receive their degrees at commencement exercises on Wednesday night. In the receiving line at the reception, which was held at the Willard Hotel, were the three retiring alumni presidents; Justice James M. Proctor, Chief Justice Alfred Adams Wheat, and Dr. F. A. Rafter; the newly elected alumni presidents; Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, president of the University; and the president of the senior class, Charles H. Jackson, Jr.

Following Our Boys As They Make Sport History

LEADER

Alabama, Oklahoma, Iowa, William and Mary, Boston, and W. & L. will be on the 1932 intersectional schedule for Coach James E. Pixlee's gridiron warriors, and Wayne Chambers (above) brilliant veteran end, will captain the team.

The Rose Bowl Champions of 1930 from the University of Alabama were held to a scoreless tie by Pixlee's men in a great aerial display at Griffith Stadium December 12 for the benefit of charity. Suther and Campbell, Alabama threats, failed to produce.

STELLAR PASSER

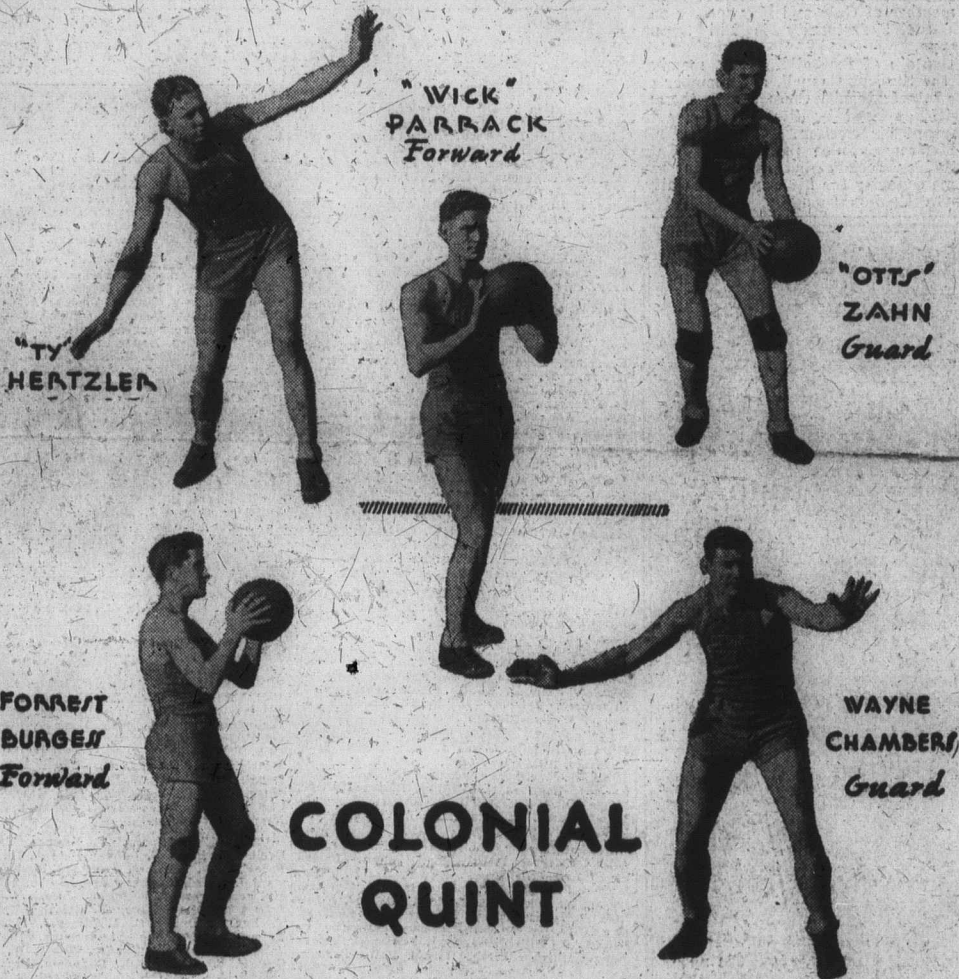

RIGHT

Every game of the 1931 football season was featured by the Colonial phenomenal aerial attack. A pass in the last two minutes of the North Dakota game tied the score and a litter of passes in the Alabama game completely baffled the Crimson Tide and kept them so busy that their own Rose Bowl championship offense failed to function. Lee Carlin was on the trickier end of most of the shots.

GRIDMEN GO INTERSECTIONAL

The Colonial Gridmen in their second season as an intersectional contender went far to put George Washington on the football fan's map last fall. Their record includes five victories, two defeats, and two ties, and they scored 200 points to their opponents' 44. Tulsa, Iowa, Boston, North Dakota, and Alabama were the "big" games.

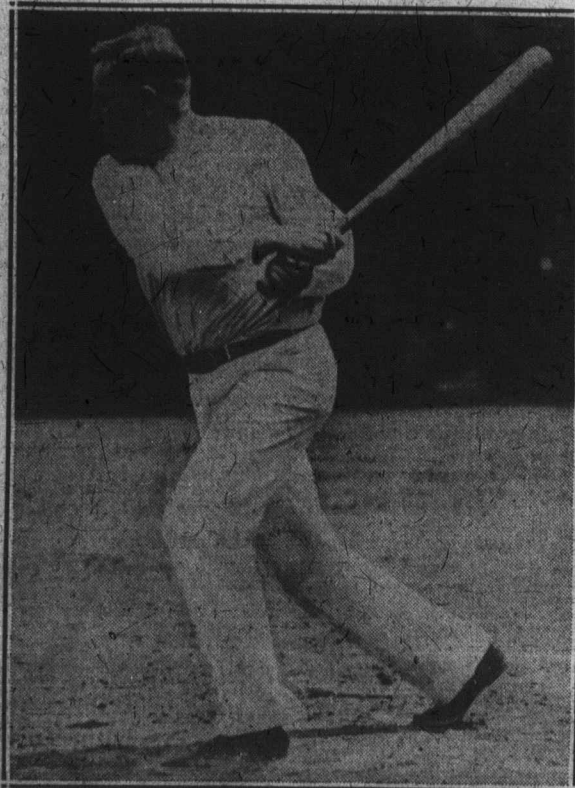

BEST EVER

Sport writers of Washington have declared that the 1931-32 edition of the Colonial basketball team was the best ever to represent the University. Ten victories without a defeat was the record of the Buff and Blue court men until Duquesne snapped their streak in a thrilling 38-32 game in Pittsburgh. An unsuccessful northern trip at the conclusion of the season resulted in three more defeats on the courts of St. John's of Brooklyn, Rider College and St. Joseph's.

MEETING MR. BURMA

The Colonial Gridmen pulled the big surprise of the season when they tied North Dakota 6-6 on Thanksgiving Day for the benefit of a student cheering section of 4,000. The line smashing Burma, one of the reasons why the Colonials were rated the "under dogs" before the game, is shown being stopped by Parish and Carter.

DIRECTS BAND

The newest George Washington musical unit, the band, which is the most important innovation of the year as far as campus life is concerned, has been directed by Louis Malkus, and the rapidity with which it was put in shape for the North Dakota game is to his credit.

LEFT

But they were not all strikes for Professor John Albert Tilema and his faculty teammates when O. D. K. and the professors crossed bats on the Ellipse May 7. Tilema served strikes from the box himself, but the honor society boys took the duel, 12-4.

HAIL TO THE BUFF

"Hail to the Buff, hail to the Blue." A brand-new University band in beautiful buff and blue uniforms makes its first appearance at the North Dakota game in Griffith stadium after one month's training. Ted Rinehart (insert) headed the Student Council committee in charge of organizing and financing the unit.

Phi Sigma Kappa Gains Greek Diamond Title

Sigma Alpha Epsilon Loses, 3-2 In Ten-Inning Baseball Contest; Last-Minute Single Wins Trophy

Sheiry, Monroe Star in Pitching Roles; Gray, Brown, and Jackson Score for New Champs;
S. A. E. Held to One Hit

BY JOHN EVERETT

In a close ten inning game Phi Sigma Kappa captured the Interfraternity baseball championship for the second time in two years, by eking out a 3-2 victory over a surprisingly strong Sigma Alpha Epsilon nine, in the final game played on May 29.

The score was tied up twice, and only a last minute single with two out in the tenth frame decided the issue in favor of the Phi Sigs. It was a tough game for Johnny Sheiry, S. A. E. pitcher, to lose after allowing but five scattered hits while fanning 15. Dana Quarles started on the mound for the winners but gave way to Monroe in the seventh after holding S. A. E. to one scratch hit. Although a little wild, Monroe tightened up in the pinch to hold the S. A. E. sluggers hitless.

Phi Sig managed to score a run in the opening inning when Gray was safe on Goode's error of his grounder. After Brown and Quarles got out, Monroe singled over third base, Gray scoring. S. A. E. also accounted for a marker in their turn at bat. Durham was safe on Monroe's error and Sheiry found life when Cordova erred. Embrey struck out and Durham scored on Hale's infield out. Both Sheiry and Quarles settled down from then on and displayed some plain and fancy hurling, which was a puzzle for both teams.

S. A. E. Ties Count in Sixth
Jackson opened the fourth frame by striking out but was safe when Embrey dropped the third strike. After stealing second and third, Jackson crossed the plate on Stehman's sacrifice fly. S. A. E. tied the score in the sixth when Durham was walked and scored on Embrey's single through short.

Phi Sig threatened to score in the eighth when Monroe connected with one of Sheiry's fast balls for a long liner to center field, that Shaw managed to camp under only after a lengthy run. A neat double play from Sheiry to Murrell erased another Phi Sig threat in the ninth. Monroe held S. A. E. batters hitless after relieving Quarles in the seventh. Although he passed four S. A. E. men, he had the needed control in the pinches.

Monroe's Hit Wins Game
Gray fanned to start the tenth and Brown was safe on an error. Embrey's weak arm allowed him to steal both second and third with ease. Quarles struck out and Monroe again came through with a slashing single scoring Brown and the winning tally.

Six Fraternities Have Representatives On Hatchet All-Greek Baseball Team

Phi Sigma Kappa Places Trio of Men; Kappa Sigma and S. A. E. Take Two Positions Each; Delta Tau Delta, Sigma Nu, and Acacia Also Honored

BY JOHN EVERETT

Six fraternities placed men on an all-star team picked from the twelve teams in the Interfraternity Baseball Tournament. Phi Sigma Kappa, newly crowned champions, led the way with three men, Kappa Sigma and S. A. E. placed two apiece, while Delta Tau Delta, Sigma Nu, and Acacia each garnered one place.

Bob Gray Holds First
Starting at first base, we find Bob Gray on the sack largely through his smooth fielding ability which offset any deficiency at the plate. His closest competitors for the job were Max Rose, Sigma Chi, and Mal McGregor, Kappa Sigma. Tommy Baldwin's steady work in which his hitting played no small part, gave him the position at the key-stone sack. Baldwin's all-around ability made him a most valuable man. Joe Sizoo, Sigma Chi, pushed Baldwin for the honors but fell down because of his weakness at the bat.

Probably the steadiest player in the series was "Otis" Zahn, Phi Sig shortstopper, who was far above the average in both fielding and hitting. This selection was one of the few in which there was little doubt as to the one worthy

Johnny Weissmuller Gives Demonstration Of Swimming Ability

George Washington University Students Treated to Special Exhibition at Shoreham Hotel

Johnny Weissmuller, world champion swimmer and Tarsan of the silver screen, gave an exhibition for George Washington students at the Shoreham Hotel pool on Thursday, June 2. Final examinations prevented a large University representation among the spectators.

In a short swim with Major E. L. Dyer, swimming instructor of the University, and two other swimmers, Weissmuller easily kept abreast of the others, at what he called a slow pace, while they were churning along at their top speed. Besides demonstrating his swimming ability, Johnny also gave the audience a thrill with his swan, pike half gainer, full gainer, and one and one half dives.

By arching his body and keeping his legs and shoulders well up in the water so that his powerful arms practically pulled him over the surface, the champ easily proved why he is considered far and wide the world's greatest swimmer.

Marvin and Kayser Deliver Addresses At W. A. A. Banquet

Sports Awards Are Made at Annual Spring Function of Women Athletes

Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin and Dr. Elmer Louis Kayser were the guest speakers at the annual spring banquet of the Women's Athletic Association at the Lafayette Hotel on May 26. Other guests of the Association were Mrs. Cloyd Marvin, Mrs. Elmer Kayser, and Miss Elizabeth Peet, president of Columbian Women.

To complete the program, Bettie Elfeld and Olga Lofgren presented a riding clog followed by an amusing monologue, "A Girl's First Baseball Game" given by Evelyn Sweizer.

The tables were most attractively decorated with spring flowers, and corsages were the favors for the guests and the instructors in the Physical Education Department for Women. Quaint nosegays of roses and sweet peas at each place carried out the theme of the decoration scheme.

Spring Awards Presented

Following the program, awards in spring sports were made. Miss Elizabeth Peet presented the Columbian Women's Intramural plaque to Kappa Gamma, high point scorer in the intramural tournaments during 1931-1932. Virginia McDonnell, winner of the annual riding show, received the riding cup from Miss Peet.

Tennis Team Named

Minor letters in archery went to Helen Lambert, Helen Koehne, Dorothea Adams, and Sophia Crutch. The honorary varsity tennis team was announced with the following women meriting positions: Virginia Dillman, Gretchen Felker, Katherine Wassmann, Elizabeth Kohner, Mary Louise Braselton, and Helen Chafee. Major letters in tennis were awarded to Helen Chafee, Virginia Dillman, and Gretchen Felker, while minor letters went to Katherine Wassmann, Elizabeth Kohner, and Mary Louise Braselton. Numerals were won by the junior class of 1933 by virtue of their victory in the class tournament.

In swimming the honorary varsity team was composed of Inge von Lewinski, Virginia Dillman, Elizabeth Reynolds, and Louise Linkins. Inge von Lewinski was the only major letter winner, while Virginia Dillman, Elizabeth Reynolds, and Louise Linkins were minor letter winners. Class numerals went to the sophomores, Catherine Crane, Louise Linkins, Virginia Dillman, Inez Ingham, and Janet Young.

Other Leaders Recognized

The baseball honorary varsity team, composed of the major and minor letter winners, was also announced at this time. Major letters went to Gretchen Felker, Margaret Blackstone, Edith Grosvenor, and Grace Haley, while Olga Lofgren, Reba Barton, Frances Thompson, Mary Haley, and Bessie Buchanan rated minor letters. The freshmen team received their numerals; the following women being members of the group: Olga Lofgren, Gretchen Felker, Lillian Cheney, Kathleen Cummings, Frances Thompson, Mary Haley, Virginia Pope, Reba Barton, Virginia Dennis, Isabelle Elms, and Ruth Jones.

Manager letters went to Louise Linkins, basketball; Florence Hedges, baseball; Dorothy Hefebower, hockey; Edith Grosvenor, soccer; Mary Louise Braselton, tennis; Helen Swick, archery; Betty Monroe, swimming; and Ruth Schmidt, publicity.

Life-Saving Insignia Given by E. L. Dyer

Red Cross Awards Made to Members of University Swimming Classes

Red Cross Life Saving insignia have been presented to 10 members of the University swimming classes according to announcement made this week by Major E. L. Dyer, swimming instructor.

The awards were made after a comprehensive examination in swimming and life saving methods as prescribed by the American Red Cross. Classes in this work have been held regularly throughout the year at the Ambassador pool.

Buchanan Captures Shoe Pitching Title

Dr. Daniel H. Buchanan emerged victorious over Prof. John Albert Tillema in the final round of the Faculty Horseshoe Pitching Tournament. Both faculty members reached the coveted finals by victories over less able contemporaries in matches held on the courts back of the Fine Arts building especially prepared for the "barnyard" pastime.

Dr. Tillema forced Dr. Buchanan throughout their stirring match and only succumbed to Buchanan's steady last-minute slinging.

Interest in the present tourney has not reached any alarming stage by the faculty as a whole, but it has created some degree of spirit among the entrants.

Intramural Stars Picked by Busick

Mythical Nine Chosen by Writer as Representing the "Cream of the Crop"

By JOHN R. BUSICK

Following the close of the Intramural baseball league in which the Columbian College nine was declared champion for the third successive year, Jean Sexton, director of intramural sports, the five team managers and John Busick, Hatchet baseball reporter, met on May 26 to select the all-intramural baseball team. In addition one player was chosen as being the most valuable man to his team and the most valuable team manager was selected.

These 12 men were honored for their outstanding work during the past season and each has received a sweater designed with the intramural "I" banked with a "B" on each side.

Blackstone Best Catcher

Naturally the first position considered was that of catcher. In Frank Blackstone the Columbians possessed a receiver of high caliber who was easily the superior of any other back-stop in the series. His hitting was consistent and of the extra-base type, driving in many needed runs for his mates. In fact, before the season was far on its way "Blackie" had received attractive offers from many sandlot managers.

Pitching was the next department considered and one of the two hurlers presented no problem at all. Hale "Boss" Daniels, Columbian box star, was easily the cream of the pitching crop. He won all of his games with comparative ease and in only one battle was he touched for more than five hits. "Just natural class," said critics.

Max Jeweler, midge Pre-Medic twirler, was awarded the other slab job. He was the only man to hold the title-winning Columbians to a respectable margin and his performances against the other clubs were more than creditable.

First base was a tough position to fill. Jay Payne, Columbian slugger, and Ed Alfaro, versatile Junior, were both good men. Payne's batting was a potent factor in the Columbian attack but in the other departments he was woefully weak. Alfaro, though not Payne's equal at the bat, played a fine all-round game.

Tommy Baldwin, Engineer second sacker, is given the call at this post. He was the main cog in his club's attack and though not more than a shade better than Zahn, "Otis" is transferred to right field, filling in a gap at that position.

Short Goes to Albert
"Hoggy" Albert of the Pre-Meds is placed at short stop. Finishing the season with a .500 batting average, he outclassed the field in this respect and his fielding left nothing to be desired at any time.

At the hot corner we find Johnny Fenlon. A member of the Columbians "murderer's row," he played consistently fast from start to finish. Never slacking, he allied his mates when the going got rough and smoothed over many cloudy situations with brilliant plays.

In the outfield Fred Mulvey, "Doty" Trilling and Otis Zahn garner the honors. These men make a strong combination from the weakest of all departments. Strong hitters all, they also are fast fielders of the Tris Speaker type. Although the garden was the weak spot, this trio form a "sweet" outfield and in no way detract from the brilliance of the entire squad.

Sid Nathanson, virtually the whole Pharmacist team for the past two years as manager, field captain, and second baseman, is honored by being chosen the most valuable man to his team. His work has been consistent and untiring and no man on this team of stars deserves his numeral more.

Colonial Basketers Schedule 20 Frays

1932-33 Program Includes 4 Additional Games; 8 New Teams Are Listed

The Athletic Department has announced the 1932-33 varsity basketball schedule to include twenty games; eight of which are with new teams on the Colonial program. As usual, the inaugurating game will be with Shenandoah College on Thursday, December 8, and the closing tilt is listed for Newark, N. J., with the University of Delaware on February 28.

The most prominent among the newly scheduled teams are: Missouri, Duke, North Carolina State, Loyola of Baltimore and Virginia Polytechnic Institute. In all, there will be only six games on foreign floors while the remaining fourteen are to be played in the George Washington gym. Duquesne, St. John's of Annapolis, Loyola, Quantico Marines, V. P. I., and Delaware are the teams due to play host to G. W.

This new schedule is four games longer than the one attempted by last year's star quint, and is indeed a severe test for any strong team. Games listed with such strong Southern Conference teams as North Carolina State, Duke, and V. P. I. will give G. W. followers a good line on the comparative merits of the teams.

Charles Jackson, president of the Clyde Smith is singles titleholder; and with Everett Simons shares the doubles crown in tennis, while Craig McKee is golf champion. Boyd Hickman, king of horseshoe pitchers, as the result of competition for honors in intramural sports tournaments, completed recently.

Suitable trophies have been awarded to the winners of the various events, Smith receiving two by virtue of his part in the doubles victory as well as his win in tennis singles.

Bitterly Fought Match

The battle for the singles title in the tennis tourney was the most bitterly fought and the feature match of the program; Clyde Smith being forced to three sets before besting Eugenio, 6-4, 3-6, 7-5. After dropping the first set, Eugenio rallied to take the second, 6-3. Play in the deciding set was all even, with the count at 5-all, when Smith broke through his opponent's service, then won his own and the trophy. Both Smith and Eugenio displayed a fine brand of tennis throughout the tournament, and appear to be fine prospects for varsity competition in the future.

Easily the class of the small field entered, Smith and Everett Simon conquered Bernie Jones and Tom Baldwin, 6-3, 6-2, to capture the doubles championship. The first set was evenly contested, and closer than the score would indicate, but after dropping the first two games of the second set the victors came back to take six in a row and sweep the contest. Smith and Simon easily disposed of Bennett and Stanton in the semi-finals, outclassing their rivals to the tune of 6-0, 6-0.

Golfers Show Talent

Supremacy on the links was attained by Craig McKee, when he overcame Lawrence Kolb, 2 up, after a keenly fought match on East Potomac golf course. Again the contestants displayed golf talent of a high order. McKee entered the final round by downing McPherson who had triumphed over Randy Robinson, better known for his tennis ability, in the quarter-final, 5 up and 4 to play.

Boyd Hickman's marksmanship spelled the downfall of Bill Albert, his rival in the last round of the horseshoe tourney, which took place on the University courts. Hickman's fingers accounted for two games in a row, both by a total of 21-14, making a third contest unnecessary. Albert defeated Thuney to become a finalist and runner-up to Hickman.

One of the colorful features of the affair was the presentation by each sorority on the campus, of its respective song. The Glee Clubs and the University Band also presented interesting programs.

Senior Class, then made a short speech, after which he presented the senior mantle to the junior class.

The exercises closed with the class valedictories, as follows: For the School of Medicine, Charles Fleck; for the Law School, Jesse Wallace; and for Columbian College, Samuel Greenburg.

A dance was given immediately following the exercises, for the graduating class and their friends.

Highlights Of The Year's Events In Pictures

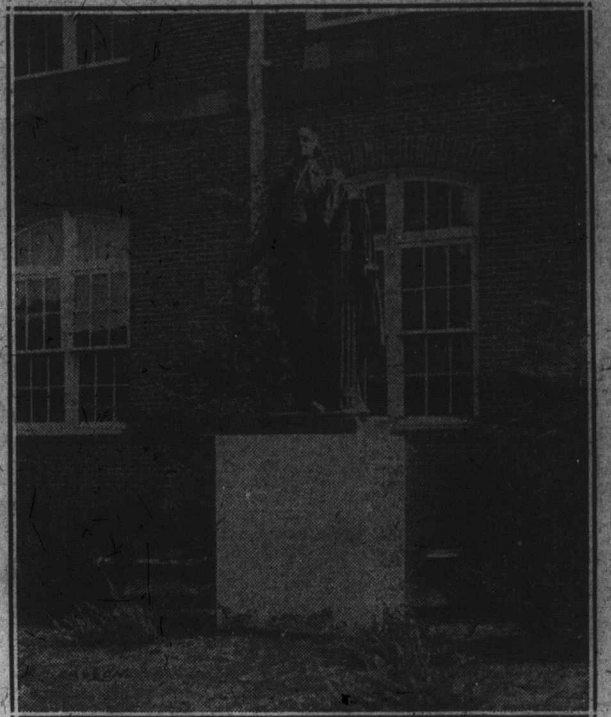

REMEMBER THEM

WHITE WAY

This picture of the All-University Carnival was taken from the roof of Lisner Hall when activities on the gala midway were at their peak. The Carnival, for the benefit of the Band, was promoted by the Student Council under the direction of Ted Rinehart.

OUR GEORGE

The name George Washington is on the tongue of every American during 1932 but a great convocation on February 22 and the erection in the Yard of the statue pictured above constituted the special honors paid him by the University that bears his name in a never dying tribute.

INTERESTING MOMENTS

The Interfraternity Prom with Paul Tremaine and his Orchestra furnishing the music was the outstanding social event of the year for University fraternity people. Jack Vivian, social chairman of the Greek Council, gets the credit.

SHOWS 'EM

The "Contrast," the first play ever written in America, showed Washington people interested in the Bicentennial, that the University drama department wasn't so bad. Miss Constance Conner Brown showed the cast how it was to be done, too.

RAN PANHEL

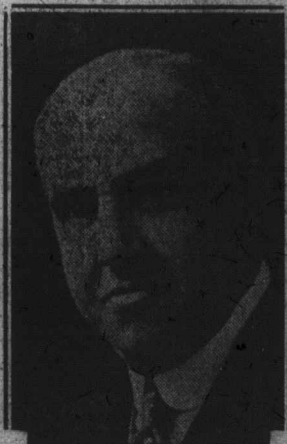

RIGHT

The Panhellenic Prom at the Shoreham with Jack Baxten's Orchestra was another high light on the University social program. Marion Ziegler, social chairman of the Panhellenic Council, set a new mark at which future promoters must aim.

FAMOUS

The combined University Glee Clubs, who entertained a host of Washington groups during the year and closed their season with an excellent concert at the Willard Hotel. The Men's Club, "until the depression" was the University's most successful and most famous entry in Intercollegiate competition.

TALKS "SHOP"

Pi Delta Epsilon, national honorary journalistic fraternity, picked George Washington University as host for their annual convention this spring and Frederic William Wile, famed political writer and radio broadcaster, addressed the official banquet at the Mayflower Hotel.

EDITS

The University began preparations this spring for the publication of a Law Review next year and Professor John Albert McIntire has been assigned the responsible position of editor. Students and faculty of the Law School will serve on the staff.

FIRST LADY

RIGHT

Mrs. Herbert Hoover as she planted an elm in the yard adjoining the Lambie House last January. The tree was a gift of the Elmira College Club of Washington as a Bicentennial gesture.

MOST POPULAR

Most popular woman at George Washington University was what Ruth Molyneux found herself the morning following the announcement in an extra edition of The Hatchet, of the winner of the Gate and Key popularity contest. The contest earned $800 for the benefit of the Band.
